

I strongly oppose the use of cell phones aboard aircraft, HOWEVER, the use of text messaging and other non-verbal communications devices should be allowed. Voice communications combined with "free minutes" will assure a complete disregard for the comfort of fellow passengers and the directions of flight crew members. We cannot rely on manners to make this close proximity relationship with strangers tolerable.